Pinterest is one of the websites I am analyzing since my project idea is a cooking recipe website and Pinterest has a lot of food contents.

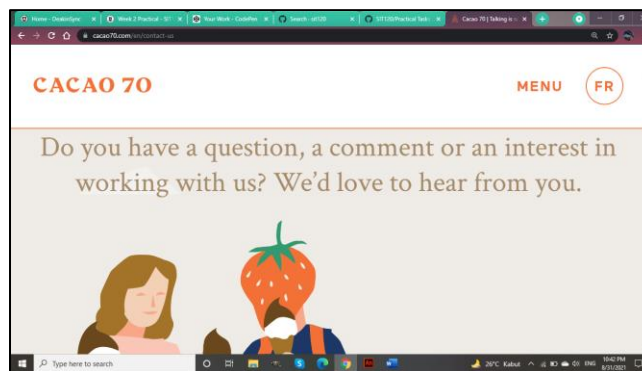

As can be seen from the desktop screenshots of the website, Pinterest is not responsive since the contents on the screen does not respond or adapt accordingly when the page is scaled up. The mobile screenshot also shows that the web is not responsive since it looks different on mobile.

Cacao 70 is not really similar with my proposal idea but I just love how the website looks.

This is an example of a good responsive website. As can be seen when the desktop website is zoomed in to 250%, it looks exactly the same with how it normally looks in mobile.
